CUBA WOULD BAN LAND TO ALL BUT CUBANS

New York, Feb. 23.—A bill prohibiting foreigners from buying any property in Cuba has been introduced in the house at Havana, according to a special cable dispatch to Herald. Property of American and English Spaniards, for example, and to the amount of nearly $100 million dollars, would be affected by the passage of such a measure, says the dispatch. The bill contains the following provisions:

That only Cubans and their heirs and assigns shall be permitted to acquire property in Cuba.

That all business transactions now made by foreigners shall be subject to the approval of the Cuban government.

This law will take effect from the date of its publication in the Gazette.

PROTRACTED MEETING GROWS IN INTEREST

The protracted meeting, held in the First Street M. E. Church, conducted by Rev. F. J. Mangum, grows in interest each day. The services last night were attended by a full house, and at this morning's service a large congregation assembled again. Rev. Mangum's preaching is so convincing, which appeals to the hearts in a way calculated to make interest in the meeting grow, and the advancement of the church and the great work being done.

These meetings were held on all of last week, and were so successful that the church has been thinking of continuing the meetings for the future. This week with two more days to go, the church is looking forward to a successful close.

Many have been converted, and the great desire to continue the meetings with the church.

It is hoped the meetings will be a great success.

A PRETTY HOME

The intended new home of J. L. Mangum, on West Main street, is now under construction. The job was started on the 10th of last August, and the contractor says he has been working on the building all the time.

Mr. Mangum is the contractor, and the work is in honor to the credit of the builders' art. The house cost something near $10,000, and the contractor says it is a very nice place, worth a thousand dollars.

It is nearly three years since the people of Dothan had a handsome home. We didn't have some, but the ones we had were not so good. I am glad now to be living in a new one, with an eye to its selling value and the credit of homes that add to the credit of the town.

The new residence is built on the corner of 10th and Main streets, and occupying the lot it is well adapted to the needs of the family. It is a fine home, and it is a fine home, and it is a fine home.

THE NOISELESS GUN.

Maxim, the inventor of the well-known rifle bearing his name, has made and patented a noiseless gun. This new invention is an attachment that may be fastened to any rifle or shot gun, and its cost is only a few dollars.

When a gun equipped with this attachment is fired, only a click is heard that would not be noticed further than a few feet away.

The inventor also made another discovery in firing his first noiseless gun. He found that his apparatus not only smothered the sound of the exploding powder but that it eliminated all rebound or "kick" usually attending all fire arms. This discovery was entirely accidental, and Mr. Maxim stumbled on this feature of his invention and failed to ask for a patent on it. But as it cannot be applied without his other machinery, he will reap the benefits of it anyway.

The thoughtful reader will ask himself if this new noiseless gun is allowed to be manufactured and sold, will it not prove a menace to mankind, and prove a handy weapon in the hands of the viciously minded.

There would be no safety in the land, if murderers and thieves could carry these noiseless fire arms in the dark and thereby be enabled to shoot down people for the purposes of murder and robbery, without fear of being heard while doing so.

We trust every state in the Union will hasten to enact laws for the purpose of barring Maxim's noiseless gun from being sold or used in this country.

DR. KELLY DEAD

Dr. Kelly, of Hedgesville, died at his home yesterday of pneumonia. The remains were brought through Dothan this evening en route to South Carolina, his old home for burial. He was a brother of Mr. Sumpter Kelly, of Shiloh.

Miss Eva Heard has arrived from New York, where she has been for several weeks buying the Spring stock of ladies' dress goods for Saxon & Heard.

QUALITY

We want to tell you that we do not use any Domestic Wool in making PARKER-EZELLE CLOTHES. Nine times out of ten the suits made by those so-called tailors up North are made from simple Domestic Wool and Cotton. The kind of wool we use in making PARKER-EZELLE suits must be imported. It must be soft, silky and wear resisting. This wool costs 25 per cent more per pound than American wool. That's the reason we get a good price for our garments for we have better material than Mr. So-Called Tailor. Compare our suits with others. Satisfied.

THE REFEREE SYSTEM

The system which has been recommended by the Washington Government as the "referee system" is a dangerous and partisan in its operation, that there is an urgent appeal being made to have it abolished altogether and some other method of federal appointments adopted in its place.

Mr. Taft, it is understood, is in favor of the change. The power heretofore conferred on the hands of one man in a state who has the sanction of appointment to important offices in any state is too much and too partisan. The people of any state even the party to which the referee is allied to him.

If under this system men are appointed to fill positions in a state when some local man holds it. Those referees held virtually in their hands the appointing power to fill most of the federal offices in the state in both the free.

That this system is too partisan in character is shown by the demand for a change.

Mr. Taft will lend his hand to the movement some other way for the federal appointments will be made.

The Democrats should demand a change for non-federal Republican will not oppose the change.

QUEEN OF ROMANIA AGAINST CORSETS

Berlin, Feb. 22.—Queen Elizabeth of Rumania to-day started an anti-corset crusade by means of a public manifesto to the women and girls of Europe to abolish corsets. The manifesto is being circulated in ten languages and is intended to reach the entire continent.

The Queen declares corsets are injurious both physically and morally. A number of the women of the Rumanian court have joined the anti-corset movement and hundreds of the common people are following the royal example.

He who extends a hand to the man in the ditch, pulls himself to a higher level.

It's a dull, gloomy day when one has no opportunities to make some one smile.

One touch of nature makes the whole world kin, and two drinks of liquor starts a family row.

We all get more out of this life than we put into it. Measure up and see if that isn't correct.

How time flies—Another week or ten days, and some more history will be made at or near the White House.

Only about one man in every four hundred you meet knows any thing about how it feels to be friendless.

When a fellow has done you dirt, he always holds it against you, for he never knows when you will be laying for him.

The man who stays on the job after others have deserted, may win out at times; and at others he may get pinched, as in blowing safes, for instance.

The man who don't go down town every morning feeling just like coming in contact with his job, ought to sidestep that burden called an occupation.

A child rarely displays much interest or gives much thought to that which has been accomplished, but to the things that are to happen, something tomorrow, or the next day, they look forward with great expectation. And in this they display one of the commonest traits of human nature, and are not unlike their dads.

The trouble with most boys and their "Paps" who are trying to emulate old Abe, is, they are not willing to start where he started, but want to pick up the work where he dropped it. They would not know a glut from a ginlet, to say nothing of knowing at which end of the log the iron wedge should be driven first.

IT'S ALL IN THE EYES.

One can look out on this world and see anything he's looking for, if he keeps his eyes long enough. It's all in the eyes of the man, which is the game.

The buzzard does not live in the purified air of the plains because the stuff he's hunting never soars, nor reaches the proper stage of decay out there. The humming bird is looking only for flowers of rare fragrance. And the possum—plain old 1905 Possum, may love chickens, but will spend the night in the carcass of a dead horse if he comes upon one in the course of his rambles of the early night.

The man who looks out of the window and sees trouble coming in an auto able, sees it, for he knows what he is looking for, and where to look. The man who goes to the other window and sees the best time of his life, just rounding the corner, also sees what he's looking for. Both live under a hypnotic spell of their own creation.

I can never see anything go wrong in your boy, and promise that he shall break into the penitentiary before he is twenty-one, he will come all-round doing it; for, bad as he is, he hates to disappoint you.

Secretary Jacob Pepperman of the Alabama Press Association, announced yesterday that a meeting of the Executive Committee of that organization will be held in Montgomery March 8, at which time it is probable the committee will decide its next meeting of the Association in Dothan.

The call for the Executive Committee was issued yesterday as follows:

"You may mention the fact that at the last annual meeting, held in Bessemer, the Dothan Commercial Club invited us to hold the coming annual meeting in Dothan. The invitation was referred to the Executive Committee, which will accept the invitation. Further, I am informed that the members will be entertained by the people in Dothan free of cost, and an outing will be provided to St. Andrews Bay, etc."

At the annual meeting of the Association held in Bessemer last year, an invitation to meet next in Dothan was presented by Editor W. T. Hall of The Dothan Eagle. Mr. Pepperman said yesterday that the Executive Committee will accept this invitation and that the meeting will be held in the mid-summer.

"I am informed," said Secretary Pepperman yesterday, "that the people of Dothan propose to give the members of the Association an enjoyable stay there, and they will propose to the Executive Committee when it meets that the Alabama editors shall spend their annual recreation in an outing to St. Andrews Bay."

The Montgomery members of the Executive Committee are Mr. Pepperman and Bruce Kennedy of the Advertiser.—Montgomery Advertiser

YOU CAN'T ALWAYS TELL

It was Emerson who said that man passes for what he is. What he engraves itself on his face, on his form, on his fortunes, in letters of light. Which is not entirely correct, if Emerson did say it.

But it reminds us of a little story we read when a boy, reading every story that came along. It was about some people riding on a train. Two happy, but gipsy people sat in one seat, and just across the aisle, a few seats ahead sat another couple, man and wife apparently. The first happy couple gazed at the second happy couple and remarked thusly: "Dene, did you ever see a more placid face, a face that reflected the man's inner life any more than that man's does? See what a smooth, smiling, happy, Christian-like face he has. That face couldn't belong to any but the gentlest soul—I think he must be a minister of the gospel or a statesman or a great scholar, for his every expression depicts refinement and noble deeds."

Hubby didn't know; said you couldn't always tell what a man was from his face; but he was willing to admit that this man was a character, and one of note, possibly. Said he knew a way to settle the matter. That he didn't mind going over and introducing himself, and asking the man with the safety-razor expression what his occupation really was. This he finally did, and partly smilingly turned and graciously acknowledged the interest in him. His wife was introduced to the wife of the other man, and they all took seats together. Then the man whose expression was the index to his calling, opened up.

"No," said he, "I'm no minister of the Gospel, no congressman, governor or foreign minister. Just a plain butcher by trade, and run a grocery store in connection with business. Ma, here, she tends to the bar, while I do my own killing and cutting; and we do very well at it. We are just going in town to do some little business. Got to come right back on the next train." The interested parties withdrew after a decent spell, and resumed their former seats, but they agreed that you couldn't always tell a man's occupation by the angle of the crown's feet.

"TWELFTH NIGHT."

The comedy which will be presented at the Elite Theatre Thursday evening February 25th, by May Stewart and a New York Company is what is rated by many as the most extravagant, the most thoughtful, the most artistic, the most amusing, and the liveliest of all Shakespearean comedies.

It was considered by many scholars as the glorification of the poet's work and his master piece.

Those who object to deep plots or heavy tragedy, will find in "Twelfth Night" a pleasing comedy, full of the light side of life, but richly jeweled with the brightest sparkling English that only the immortal Bard of Avon could handle.

Much interest is being manifested by the local play-goers in Miss Stewart's engagement, and unless at signs of a full house may be expected.

If you buy one of our tailored-to-order suits you'll be pleased with the good fit and excellent workmanship. Some special values at $18.50 $22.50 $25.00.
